INTERNATIONAL SHORT FILM COMPETITION - Amnesty International Award "Short on Rights"

The Corto Dorico Film Festival, co-directed by Daniele Cipri and Luca Caprara, continues to hold its annual International Short Film Competition in collaboration with Amnesty International Italia.

The Festival's mission has always been that of fulfilling the challenge of researching, promoting and supporting cinema through its new and ever-changing views, its diverse poetics and its individual visions. The short films admitted to the selection may be of any kind and genre, provided that they deal with issues related to human and/or civil rights, in both conventional and unconventional ways or forms, and to either the upholding or the violation of said rights as guaranteed for each individual by the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Film Registration rules and regulations

1. Each author can compete with a maximum of 2 (two) works.
2. The competition will accept works by authors of any nationality and language, as long as they are not Italian productions (to whom the NATIONAL COMPETITION is dedicated).
